Excerpt: . Memorial Meeting In obedience to a call on the arrival of the morning trains on September 10th, 1904. the day of the funeral, the opera house at Curwensville was filled with a large assemblage of people gathered for a brief memorial service. Special trains from Rochester, New York City and Harrisburg had brought many business and legislative associates of Senator Patton, and from all the surrounding region a great multitude had gathered to do honor to his memory. After the meeting had been properly organized, col. E. A. irvin, the Presiding Officer, said: hold in our hall various kinds of meetings to discuss things of moment, but in this particular meeting we come together in common sorrow. We who have lived here for many years, who have known the man whom you have gathered here to mourn, are grateful to these gentlemen, and...
