Excerpt: . the great demand for admission has somewhat abated, and we are gradually returning to normal conditions. While numbers are to be desired, the one great object of the Royal Craft is to impress upon the candidates the sublime lessons of the degrees, which, in many cases, where large classes have been rushed through, may have failed to accomplish the desired results. He attended the meeting of the General Grand Chapter; was pleased with his reception; refers to it, approving the educational work of some Grand Chapters, urging the adoption of the Towner Sterling Educational Bill, and gives the vote on the defeat of the revision of the Constitution one hundred and fortythree to ninety-four. He made a large number of visitations. Was cordially received, and found the work well done. In summing up his visitations he says: There is no place in any Masonic ritual for the introduction of a circus or jest at the expense of the candidate. If the clean ceremony of the ritual, which is intended to teach and illustrate great truths, does not appeal to the officers of a Chapter, then a mistake has been made in their election. It has been brought to my attention that in many Grand Jurisdictions, in conferring the degrees of Capitular Masonry, there is often a spirit of cruelty manifested and the degrees are conferred in such a manner as to be painful and humiliating to the candidates. I believe that this General...
